To determine your eligibility for a research study, we need to collect information about you. By continuing on to the following screening questionnaire, you are permitting us to collect this information. Completing the screening does not commit you to participate in a study. Neither does it guarantee that you will participate. Before you participate in a study, we will give you a consent form with information about that study.

The screening may ask about your experiences, attitudes, and preferences. It may also ask for demographic and/or medical information. There are no foreseeable risks in completing the questionnaire, nor are there any benefits aside from the possibility that you’re eligible to participate in a research study. The questionnaire should take no longer than 30 minutes to complete (often less than 10 minutes).

Access to information obtained from the screening will be limited to our own research personnel. All sensitive information we collect electronically will be stored in an institutionally secured and managed environment.

You will not receive any payment for completing the screening itself; however, if you are eligible for a study, you may receive payment upon completion of the experiment.

Your participation in this screening is voluntary. At any time, you may change your mind and choose not to participate, without any penalty or loss of benefit unrelated to the screening.

If you wish to continue with the screening, you may continue on to the questionnaire as directed.
